Anticoagulation: Applying Innovation in Clinical Practice

Friday, December 8th, 2017

Atlanta Marriott Marquis in Atlanta, GA

Plan now to attend an informative symposium that includes expert speakers sharing their knowledge on the effective management of patients who require anticoagulation. This symposium is ideal for all health care providers, across a wide range of clinical settings, who have an interest in the better management of patients with thrombosis. Time will be dedicated to the discussion of some of the most challenging clinical scenarios using case history examples to guide the debate. Topics covered in the program include:

- The clinical challenge of venous thromboembolism
- Prevention and treatment of thrombosis in cancer patients
- Stroke prevention in patients with atrial fibrillation
- Anticoagulation in patients with coronary or peripheral arterial disease

We look forward to welcoming you and your participation in this symposium.

This activity has been approved for AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™.
